FENCER JEFF SPEAR OF COLUMBIA AND WRESTLER DAN LAURENT OF WISCONSIN LA CROSSE
TOP ESPN THE MAGAZINE'S ACADEMIC ALL AMERICA®
AT-LARGE MEN'S TEAMS

TOWSON, Md. – Senior fencer Jeff Spear of Columbia University and senior wrestler Dan Laurent of the University of Wisconsin La Crosse head the 2010 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America® Men's At-Large Teams, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA).

Speer and Laurent were named as the Academic All-America® of the Year Award winners in the University and College Divisions, respectively.

The Men's At-Large program for the Academic All-America® includes the sports of fencing, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, tennis and water polo.

An Evolutionary Biology of Human Species major with a 4.07 G.P.A., Spear is a two-time second team All-American selection who earned first team All-Ivy League honors three times. He received the 2010 NCAA Elite 88 award for fencing, which is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative G.P.A. participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 88 championships. The 2008 NCAA champion, Speer finished seventh at the national championship this year and took second place at the regional.

A native of Wynantskill, N.Y., Spear completed his career with a 143-46 record in sabre. He is a two-time Intercollegiate Fencing Gold Medalist and was awarded an NCAA postgraduate scholarship this year. He is the first Lion to be awarded with an NCAA postgraduate scholarship since 2007.

He is the only repeat selection on the 2010 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America® Men's At-Large University Division first team.

Laurent, a Biochemistry, Cellular and Molecular Biology major with a 3.94 G.P.A., won the 2010 NCAA Division III Wrestling Championship in the 285-pound division, his third consecutive national title. He was also named as the 2010 Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Wrestler of the Year after winning his fourth straight WIAC title. Laurent compiled a 33-3 record during the 2010 season and became the fourth wrestler in WIAC history to win four consecutive 285-pound titles.

A native of Mishicot, Wis., Laurent compiled a 124-27 career record, the seventh-best record in school history. At four national tournaments, he compiled a 12-2 record.

Honored as the 2010 WIAC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for wrestling, he was selected to the National Wrestling Coaches Association Scholar All-America Team three times. The two-year captain was named as the 2008 UW-L Biochemistry Student of the Year. In 2010, he led the Eagles to a second place finish at the NCAA Division III Championship Meet. He also helped UW-L finish as national runner-up in 2008.

Although Spear is the only repeat selection on the 2010 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America® Men's At-Large University Division first team, four honorees graduated from the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America® Men's At-Large second team.

Senior lacrosse All-American Max Quinzani of Duke, senior Tyler Ruegsegger of the Denver ice hockey team, senior tennis player Gustave Diep of New Mexico State and senior ice hockey standout Colin Greening of Cornell earned first team honors for the first time. Quinzani and Ruegsegger were named to the second team in 2009 and earned third team notice in 2008.

Senior swimmers Jordan Anderson of Auburn, Jack Brown of Arizona and Stefan Sigrist of Ohio State are joined on the first team by junior swimmers Nathan Adrian of California and Alex Buck of the U.S. Naval Academy. Senior wrestlers Brent Metcalf of Iowa and J.P. O'Connor of Harvard are also members of the first team, along with ice hockey standout Dion Knelsen of Alaska Fairbanks, lacrosse player Andrew Maisano of the U.S. Military Academy and skier Matt Gelso of Colorado.

A History major with a 3.61 G.P.A., Quinzani led Duke to its first-ever NCAA championship in men's lacrosse with a 6-5 win over Notre Dame on Memorial Day. A three-time All-America pick, he was a second team All-American in 2010 and earned a spot on the all-tournament team at the NCAA Championship. As a senior, he led the Blue Devils with a school record 68 goals, the eighth-highest total in NCAA history. The Duxbury, Mass., native finished his career as the second-leading scorer in NCAA history with 199 goals. Quinzani, who scored the game-winning goal with 14 seconds left in Duke's semi-final win over Virginia, also set a NCAA record by registering a point in 66 consecutive games. In 78 career games, he scored 199 goals with 37 assists and was a three-time selection as first team All-Atlantic Coast Conference.

A native of Lakewood, Col., Ruegsegger tallied a career high 41 points on 16 goals and 25 assists as a senior, leading the Pioneers to their 21st NCAA Tournament appearance. A Management major with a 3.95 G.P.A. he earned All-Western Collegiate Hockey Association second team notice and was named as the WCHA Scholar-Athlete for the third straight year. With 28 career power play goals, he ranks third on Denver's all-time list. One of the top 50 scorers in school history, he tallied 123 points on 56 goals and 67 assists in 147 career games. Named to the prestigious Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honorary as a junior, he led Denver to 97 wins, one WHCA championship and three NCAA Tournament appearances in his career. As a senior, he helped the nationally-ranked Pioneers post a 27-10-4 record.

A Biochemistry major with a minor in Biology and a 4.00 G.P.A., Diep became the first New Mexico State tennis player to be selected to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America® Men's University Division At-Large Team in 2009 with his second team honor. A native of Paris, France, he won 11 singles matches and 17 doubles matches as a senior. A two-time second team All-Western Athletic Conference selection, he was also named to the Academic All-WAC team twice.

An Applied Economics and Management major with a 3.99 G.P.A., Greening earned the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award after leading Cornell in scoring with 15 goals and 20 assists in 2010. Only the second player in school history to lead the squad in scoring three straight seasons, he was named as the ECAC Hockey Student-Athlete of the Year. He was also named first-team All-Ivy League for the second year in a row. The St. John's, Newfoundland native finished his career with 55 goals and 118 points in 137 games. As a senior, he led Cornell to a 21-9-4 record, the ECAC championship and an NCAA Tournament berth. In April, he signed a professional contract with Ottawa of the National Hockey League.

A Biomedical Studies major with a 3.92 G.P.A., Anderson earned three All-American honors as a senior at Auburn and ended his career as a four-time All-American. A Rhodes Scholar, he was awarded the 2010 H. Boyd McWhorter Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award, receiving a post-graduate scholarship. A member of the SEC champion 200-medley relay team, he was a team captain who was the SEC runner-up in the 200-butterfly twice. A native of Roanoke, Va., Anderson is a member of the Chi Alpha Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi honor societies. He will be studying at Oxford University in the fall.
